XXXIVth Annual Symposium on Social Work with Groups

Call for Presentation Proposals

Passion for Group Work: An International Conversation

Please join us at the 34th Annual Symposium of Social Work with Groups, being co-sponsored in Long Island, New York, June 14th-17th, 2012, by Adelphi University and Stony Brook University. We welcome students, faculty, agency administrators, practitioners of various disciplines and community developers who utilize the group modality to submit papers, workshops, posters and other innovative presentation formats.

Proposals are especially welcomed in the following, as well as in other group work topics:

- Group planning, strategies and programming
- Supervision of group practice
- Group supervision
- Grief & bereavement/hospice
- Training & teaching group work
- Evidence-based group work
- Group work with veterans and families
- Use of activities
- Diversity in group work
- Innovation in group work
- Intergenerational models

TYPES OF PRESENTATIONS

Papers* are 30-45 minutes - didactic and discussion-oriented presentations

Workshops are 60-90 minutes - experiential presentations

Poster Sessions are visual presentations - displayed at designated times during the Symposium

Innovations are other forms of sharing information not described above

PROPOSAL SUBMISSION: The Symposium will be predominantly in English; 350 word abstract proposals in all languages are welcome (see Call in French, German, or Spanish). Submit on line at our on-line service, Convex Technologies or enter the following url in your browser bar: <http://aaswg.confex.com/aaswg/34/collection.cgi>.
